Call For Respondents!

For my Master thesis in sociology (University of Amsterdam) I am looking for (1) PhD students, who are writing their thesis at a sociology department, and (2) sociologist, who are already further in their career. My research focuses on how a scientific environment that emphasises quantification (university rankings, citation indices, teacher evaluations etc.) affects the practice of science. All interviews will be conducted in person or via Skype, in English or German, they are semi-structured and all responses will be anonymised.
